Training Completion Tracking

Training Completion & Certificate Tracking

Description: As Grohe, we want the system to automatically track if a user has read all the training modules and passed the quiz, so that they can only obtain a certificate after truly completing the entire curriculum.

Acceptance Criteria

- 1. Tracking "Read" Status:
  - The system must track if individual training modules have been read.
  - Definition of Read: A module is considered "read" based on defined parameters (e.g., specific scroll depth like ‘end of page’ achieved).
- 2. Tracking Quiz Success:
  - The system must track the result of the training quiz.
  - A quiz is considered "passed" only if the user reaches the score threshold defined in the backend.
- 3. Condition: Full Success (Certificate Access):
  - IF the user has successfully passed the quiz AND has "read" all training modules:
  - THEN the user is directed to the Certificate Page (or the download becomes active) to obtain their confirmation of participation.
  - Note: It depends on the settings for the training. The content editors should be able to set the conditions for passing for each training individually.
- 4. Condition: Partial Success (Quiz Passed, Content Incomplete):
  - IF the user has successfully passed the quiz BUT has NOT "read" all training modules:
  - THEN the user is shown a specific message stating they need to complete all sections to pass.
  - The certificate download/page remains inaccessible. A link to the first training section is shown instead.
  - Note: The content editors should be able to set the conditions for passing for each training individually.
- 5. Visual Feedback:
  - The user interface should clearly indicate which specific condition is preventing the certificate download (e.g., "Quiz Passed: Yes" / "Modules Read: No").

Data Template Updates (Backend)

To support these messages, the Quiz Container (or a new Course Settings item) requires the following additional fields:

Field Name	Type	Description
Partial Success Messages
Incomplete Reading Title	Single-Line Text	Headline for the warning (e.g., "Almost there!").
Incomplete Reading Text	Rich Text	The main body text explaining the situation. Should support a placeholder like `{unread_list}` to dynamically insert missing modules.
Button Labels
Review Modules Button	Single-Line Text	Label for the button redirecting them back to the start or the first unread module.

Proposed Message Copy Options

Here are three variations of the copy that editors could use, ranging from formal to encouraging.

Option 1: Encouraging & Helpful (Recommended)

Best for general employee training or onboarding.

- Title: Almost there!

- Message Body:

  "Great job! You have successfully passed the final quiz.

  However, our system shows that you haven't fully reviewed all the training materials yet. To generate your certificate, you must complete the reading requirements for the following sections:

  {unread_list}

  Please go back and review these sections to finish your course."

Option 2: Formal & Compliance-Focused

Best for mandatory safety or legal compliance training.

- Title: Course Completion Incomplete
- Message Body:

  "You have achieved the required passing score on the assessment.

  However, the certificate of participation cannot be issued yet because the mandatory reading time/scroll depth requirements were not met for all modules.

  Missing Modules: {unread_list}

  You must complete all sections to finalize this training."

Option 3: Direct & Short

Best for mobile users or short micro-learnings.

- Title: One last step
- Message Body:

  "You passed the quiz! You just need to finish reading the content to get your certificate.

  Please finish reading: {unread_list}"

Functional Logic for the Frontend

When rendering these messages, the Frontend developer must implement the following logic to make the feedback actionable:

1. Dynamic List Injection: The system must replace the `{unread_list}` placeholder with clickable links to the specific modules that triggered the "Unread" status.
2. Visual State:

- Quiz Status: ✅ Passed (Green)
- Reading Status: ⚠️ Incomplete (Orange/Yellow)

3. Call to Action: The primary button "Download Certificate" should be Disabled (Greyed out). A secondary button "Go to First Unread Module" should be highlighted.
